

Asian Young Aerosol Scientist Award

2022

The Asian Young Aerosol Scientist Award was established by the Asian Aerosol Research Assembly and TSI Incorporated to recognize the young scientist in Asia, Australia and New Zealand who has made outstanding contribution in aerosol science.

Selection Process

The Asian Young Aerosol Scientist Award committee recommends a candidate for this award to the Board of Directors of the Asian Aerosol Research Assembly to grant the award.

Nominee

The nominee must be a person under 41 years in age by the date of the Asian Aerosol Conference of that year (12th June, 2022) and has conducted his or her scientific work in Asia, Australia and New Zealand for 3 years or longer and who has not already received this award.

Nominator

A person who is familiar with the scientific /technical contributions of the nominee can nominate.

Nomination Dossier

The four documents described below should be submitted as a single PDF in the following order:

1. Cover Page
2. Letter from Nominator
3. Supporting Letters
4. Vitae and or Job Description and Publications

Cover Page: Complete the cover page of the nomination and submit with the complete nomination packet.

Letter from Nominator: Should focus on personal knowledge and provide evidence of the nominee's outstanding scientific and/or engineering contribution in aerosol science.

Supporting Letters: Three supporting letters from persons (nominee's supervisor and peers are acceptable) who have personal knowledge of the nominee's work and provide evidence of the nominee's outstanding scientific and/or engineering contribution in aerosol science.

Vitae and/or Job Description and publications: Appropriate for the position, and a list of the nominee's significant publications.

Nomination Submission and date

Submit nominations to the Asian Young Aerosol Scientist Award Committee at charlesl@umn.edu by 1st May 2022.

If you have any questions about the nominating process, please send them to charlesl@umn.edu.

Award

The recipient of the Award will receive a USD 1,000 cheque and a recognition plaque.

